

IMMERSION

ASL Immersion is a fun-filled activity hosted by the Alberta Cultural Society of the Deaf that allows people to be immersed in using American Sign Language. Participants range from beginners who are just learning ASL for the first time or more advanced students who are working to improve their fluency in the language and their knowledge of their Deaf community.

ASL Immersion is taken by parents of Deaf children and siblings, educators, educational assistants, social workers, friends, relatives, and other individuals who work with deaf and hard of hearing children and adults. Our participants are committed to learning and improving their skills in the unique language in order to become allies with minority culture the experiences challenges and discrimination on every day basis.

American Sign Language (ASL) is the 4th most studied modern/foreign language at colleges and universities in the U.S. according to the Modern Language Association's statistics.

Excerpt from lifescrpt.com: Help your hearing children communicate and read. Any hearing child will benefit from learning sign language. Babies can learn to make simple signs to communicate their needs long before they are ready to speak. Teaching them a few basic signs can help parent and baby to communicate, which comes in handy at meal times, or when the baby is frustrated with an unmet need.

Our instructors are the members of Alberta Cultural Society of the Deaf and have been trained and monitored for the quality of instruction. Alberta Cultural Society of the Deaf is affiliated to Canadian Cultural Society of the Deaf. Please visit <http://www.deafculturecentre.ca>
